Confession

Officiant

Dearly beloved, we have come together in the presence of Almighty God our heavenly Father, to render thanks for the great benefits that we have received at his hands, to set forth his most worthy praise, to hear his holy Word, and to ask, for ourselves and on behalf of others, those things that are necessary for our life and our salvation. And so that we may prepare ourselves in heart and mind to worship him, let us kneel in silence, and with penitent and obedient hearts confess our sins, that we may obtain forgiveness by his infinite goodness and mercy.

Officiant and People together, all kneeling

Almighty and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from thy ways like lost sheep, we have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts,

we have offended against thy holy laws,
we have left undone those things which we ought to
have done,
and we have done those things which we ought not to
have done.

But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us,
spare thou those who confess their faults,
restore thou those who are penitent,
according to thy promises declared unto mankind
in Christ Jesus our Lord;
and grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake,
that we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life,
to the glory of thy holy Name. Amen.

Officiant

The Almighty and merciful Lord grant you absolution and remission of all your sins, true repentance, amendment of life, and the grace and consolation of his Holy Spirit. Amen.

ascribe to the Lord glory and strength.

2 Ascribe to the Lord the glory due his Name; *
worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.

3 The voice of the Lord is upon the waters;
the God of glory thunders; *
the Lord is upon the mighty waters.

4 The voice of the Lord is a powerful voice; *
the voice of the Lord is a voice of splendor.

5 The voice of the Lord breaks the cedar trees; *
the Lord breaks the cedars of Lebanon;

and Mount Hermon like a young wild ox.

7 The voice of the Lord splits the flames of fire;
the voice of the Lord shakes the wilderness; *
the Lord shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.

8 The voice of the Lord makes the oak trees writhe *
and strips the forests bare.

The First Lesson

Isaiah 43:1-7

A Lesson from the Book of the prophet Isaiah

Thus says the Lord,
he who created you, O Jacob,

he who formed you, O Israel:

Do not fear, for I have redeemed you;
I have called you by name, you are mine.

When you pass through the waters, I will be with you;
and through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you;

when you walk through fire you shall not be burned,
and the flame shall not consume you.

For I am the Lord your God,
the Holy One of Israel, your Savior.

I give Egypt as your ransom,
Ethiopia and Seba in exchange for you.

Because you are precious in my sight,
and honored, and I love you,

I give people in return for you,
nations in exchange for your life.

Do not fear, for I am with you;
I will bring your offspring from the east,
and from the west I will gather you;

I will say to the north, "Give them up,"
and to the south, "Do not withhold;

bring my sons from far away
and my daughters from the end of the earth--

everyone who is called by my name,
whom I created for my glory,
whom I formed and made."

Benedictus es, Domine

Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou for the Name of thy Majesty; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou in the temple of thy holiness; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou that beholdest the depths,
and dwellest between the Cherubim; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou on the glorious throne of thy kingdom; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou in the firmament of heaven; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost:
as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

The Second Lesson

Acts 8:14-17

A reading from the Acts of the Apostles

When the apostles at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them. The two went down and prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit (for as yet the Spirit had not come upon any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus). Then Peter and John laid their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

Here endeth the Lesson

Jubilate Deo Psalm 100

O be joyful in the Lord all ye lands; *
serve the Lord with gladness
and come before his presence with a song.

Be ye sure that the Lord he is God;
it is he that hath made us and not we ourselves; *
we are his people and the sheep of his pasture.

O go your way into his gates with thanksgiving and into his courts with praise; *
be thankful unto him and speak good of his Name.

For the Lord is gracious;
his mercy is everlasting; *
and his truth endureth from generation to generation.

The Apostles' Creed

Officiant and People together, all standing

I believe in God, the Father almighty,
maker of heaven and earth;
And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord;
who was conceived by the Holy Ghost,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, dead, and buried.
He descended into hell.
The third day he rose again from the dead.
He ascended into heaven,
and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father almighty.
From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.
I believe in the Holy Ghost,
the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and the life everlasting. Amen.

Father in heaven, who at the baptism of Jesus in the River Jordan didst proclaim him thy beloved Son and anoint him with the Holy Spirit: Grant that all who are baptized into his Name may keep the covenant they have made, and boldly confess him as Lord and Savior; who with thee and the same Spirit liveth and reigneth, one God, in glory everlasting. Amen.

Luke 3:15-17, 21-22

As the people were filled with expectation, and all were questioning in their hearts concerning John, whether he might be the Messiah, John answered all of them by saying, “I baptize you with water; but one who is more powerful than I is coming; I am not worthy to untie the thong of his sandals. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. His winnowing fork is in his hand, to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his granary; but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire.”

“Quote of the Week”

“That we have our Prayer Book, our Altar, even our Episcopacy itself, we may, humanly speaking, thank ++William Laud ..... That our Articles have not a Genevan sense tied to them and are not an intolerable burden to the Church, is due to Laud. .... Laud saved the English Church ..... The English Church in her Catholic aspect is a memorial to Laud.”

An encomium made by Canon James Bowling Mozley in honour of Archbishop William Laud.

Laud was Archbishop of Canterbury at the time of the First English Civil War, an advocate of the divine right of kings and the maintenance of the orthodox catholicity of the Protestant Church of England, martyred by the Puritan Parliament on 7 October 1645.

Reflection

Archbishop William Laud: Martyr

The word “martyr” has its origins in the Greek word meaning ‘witness’. It applies to those in history of the Church who died for their faith in Christ. In the earliest days of the Church, it was these persons who were celebrated as saints in the Church’s calendar for their unwillingness to recant their faith, to betray fellow Christians, or to prevaricate on the true, orthodox teaching and principles of faith, all in the face of mortal peril. Their feast days were commemorated with masses and memorial observances, and the liturgical color was red, not for the Holy Spirit, but for the blood spilt on behalf of the Faith.

Revelations Chapter 6 contains a vision of the Heavenly Throne where martyrs were honored. “I saw ... the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they held ... And white robes were given unto every one of them.”

Having risen to the rank of Archbishop of Canterbury at the height of the rise of puritanism and the rule of the parliamentarians under Oliver Cromwell, a tyranny that would become a sort of Protestant Taliban for a season in England, Laud became a lightning rod for Parliamentary rage which led to his execution as a scapegoat for King Charles I, himself martyred by Cromwell.

Laud preached, “The King is God’s immediate lieutenant upon earth ... the power which resides in the King is not any assuming to himself, nor any gift from the people, but God’s power, as well in, as over, him.”

Not merely exhibiting pandering flattery to his monarch, Laud believed that God was the primary mover and agent of history, and that the monarchy was the ultimate manifestation of that belief. It was God who chose kings, and any other method was the vanity of human agency.

Laud also held that the tradition of the Church was something given by the hand of God and not merely the invention or preference of human agency. He reached for Christian Unity above political and social division and faction. For him the schisms after the Reformation was a tragic mistake. “For my part, death were easier to me than to see the face of the Church of Christ scratched and torn till it bleeds in every part, as it doth this day; and the coat of Christ, which once was spared by soldiers because it was seamless, rent everyway.”

For his belief that the two pillars of the Cromwellian revolution: the deposing of the King and the further fragmentation of the Church, were contrary to the Word and Will of God, Laud was executed. He also allowed himself to be saddled with many of the charges the parliamentarians sought to lay on King Charles, hoping to bear the King’s indictment on himself as a propitiatory sacrifice.

We today might not find Laud’s politics palatable in a post modern world, and his orientation was truly backward as well as forward for his inspiration; but Laud’s faith in the Hand of God at work in His creation, is a perspective that we could benefit from. As Canon Mozely said of Laud, “The English Church in her Catholic aspect is a memorial to Laud.” That we have in our DNA, as Episcopalians, the integrity of a perspective given of the Age of Faith as well as our progressive, incarnational aspect given in Modernity is due in such a large part to the Martyr of catholicity that is William Laud.
